Senator Calls Police

Langer said police at the Senate called the fugitive squad of Washington metropolitan police but nobody had a warrant The senator said he also immediately notified Deputy Atty Gen William P Rogers that Wilson was here

Langer had said earlier that he had received telegrams from Wilson and Burt McCloskey saying they would be here for today's committee session and asking to be heard

Unevaluated charges by the two men had been read into the record of the hearings on Warren last week and Langer had said he personally favored letting them testify.

Up to Committee

But he said he would leave it up to the committee to decide whether to take further testimony or to act on Warren's nomination submitted to the Senate for confirmation by President Eisenhower last Jan 11 Warren has been serving since last October under an appointment made while Congress was not in session

Sen Watkins (R Utah), a committee member told newsmen I think the American people will be outraged if we don't act He said he would move to report the nomination favorably to the Senate unless some other committee member beats him to it.

No Avowed Opposition

Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California said he expected the committee to approve the nomination of the former governor of his state, adding that he hopes to bring it up in the Senate before the week's end

No senator has publicly announced intention to vote against Warren and Knowland predicted the Senate will confirm him overwhelmingly

Readjustment Called Factor In Employment

Labor Chief Mitchell Opposes Public Works As Answer to Problem

FLINT Mich (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P Mitchell opposes an immediate public works program as a solution to unemployment He regards present trends as part of a necessary and unavoidable readjustment in America's economy

Citing employment upturend since 1939 he says it just doesn't make sense to say the nation is heading for a depression

In a major speech to a Lincoln Day rally last night he said federal public works projects if instituted immediately would make the adjustment sharper more painful and more protracted

The 53 year old secretary of labor said the nation is gradually readjusting its economy from a wartime peak and is not going from 'boom to bust'

We are coming down from the artificially high peak made by war and inflation to a plateau—and we are almost there he said There may be a slight but not significant increase in unemployment for the next two months Then for another few months we will rest at that level

He said readjustment was necessary and we could only postpone not avoid it'

Senate Treaty Power Decision Believed Near

Vote Expected on New Wording for Bricker's Proposed Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's month long bout with a proposal to curb treaty powers may produce today a decision on an issue which Sen Bricker (R Ohio) calls the most crucial in the dispute

Up for action is new language offered by the Ohioan which he says would preserve the heart of his original constitutional amendment although less broad than his initial proposal to which President Eisenhower voiced unalterable opposition

The senator said he expected a vote during the afternoon but this was not definite Sen Morse (Ind Ore) yesterday blocked a debate limitation agreement which would have guaranteed a decision today Morse opposes any amendment on the issue now

Republican Leader Knowland of California served notice night sessions may be held tonight and tomorrow in an effort to reach a final decision this week

The new language proposed by Bricker states that a treaty or other international agreement cannot become effective as domestic law unless Congress passes legislation on it or unless the Senate so provides by a two thirds vote in ratifying a treaty Executive agreements with other nations are not subject to Senate approval

Red China 'Got Foot in Door'

Russians Gained Ground At Berlin, Senator Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen George (D Ga) said today that Russia by winning a seat for Red China at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Far Eastern problems may have gained her only real objective of the Berlin Big Four talks

George top Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in an interview he regards this action as giving the Chinese Communists a foot in the door toward eventual recognition by the United Nations and possibly by the United States

'No Question About It

There is no question about it the Russians have won an achievement George said they may have achieved what was their only real objective at the Berlin conference—to get the Chinese included in discussion of Asian problems

Secretary of State Dulles who reports on the Berlin talks to the Foreign Relations Committee in a closed session today and to the nation by radio and television tonight has contended the United States got just what it wanted in arranging the Geneva meeting

Claim Recognition Out

A number of Republicans have voiced skepticism at Dulles action in agreeing to sit down with the Chinese Communists despite his getting a written agreement that this would not constitute recognition of the Peiping regime by the nation which does not do so now

The secretary briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday and, Chairman Chiperfield (R Ill) said in a statement reported that

He had made clear the United States would in no case recognize Communist China and that it should not be given the right to be talked to except on Korea and Indochina where Communist China had an interest as an aggressor

Chiperfield also quoted Dulles as saying Soviet leaders have worked themselves into a situation from which there is no escape and that unrest in Soviet occupied areas is so great they do not dare give greater freedom for fear it will be used against them

George said he doesn't see how

Marines Take Stand, Praise Fellow Officer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Marines who held out against the hammering of their Communist captors in Korea were called today to testify about another Leatherneck officer who finally gave in and signed a false germ warfare confession

Lt Col John W McLaughlin 35 and Maj Walter R Harris 32 both decorated recently for bravery while war prisoners were to testify before a Marine court of inquiry which will decide whether Col Frank Schwable a 45 year old flying veteran should face formal charges in connection with the confession he later repudiated

Schwable who lives in nearby Arlington Va has claimed he signed only after prolonged brutal treatment A number of former POWs have testified they saw Schwable during the time the Reds were working on him and that the colonel at times seemed haggard and almost out of his mind

Schwable's lawyer Col Paul Sherman said yesterday he has asked the court to call for testimony from Maj Gen William H Dean, whom the Reds held for more than two years and from Dr Charles Mayo eminent Minnesota medical authority who as a U S delegate has addressed the United Nations on Communist prisoner techniques

Marine Lt Col William G Trash of Atlanta a former POW testified yesterday he felt only ut most sympathy" for Schwable.

Split on Writing Legislation

Democrats Fail To Agree On Strategy in Tax Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats reported a disagreement today over whether they should try to quash up to two billion dollars in business benefits in a Republican sponsored tax revision bill

Several Democrats on the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee said the issue has developed in planning their strategy for a drive to increase all individual income tax exemptions from $600 to $700

They will seek to write the exemption increase which would reduce income taxes by about 2¼ billion dollars a year into a big tax reform bill now nearing completion within the committee

Some Republican committee members meanwhile said they have been discussing informally whether to try to head off the Democratic move by proposing income tax cuts themselves But there was no indication of lessened opposition by the Eisenhower administration to any such move now

Democrats said their members are divided over whether the strategy should propose

A Leaving intact the committee's 800-page revision bill carrying about $2 300 000 000 in annual tax reductions and adding on the exemption increases

B Adding the exemption increase but knocking out of the revision bill a proposal which ultimately would reduce taxes on stock dividends by an estimated 860 million dollars annually

C Substituting the exemption increase for the dividend proposal and also several other provisions attacked by some Democrats as a 'giveaway' to business including more rapid tax deductions for de

The upheaval cracked foundations walls and windows of homes and raised some sections of pavements as high as a foot or more Fences were pushed over One garage attached to a home was pulled away several inches

There was no estimate of the total damage

The state city and coal company have launched separate investigations but little is expected to be learned until the mines clear of gas caused by the earth movements

Mitchell made his address after a whirlwind tour of Flint area automobile plants chatting with workers on the way He found them happy in their jobs he said

The secretary vigorously criticized talk of recession

Now we have heard a great deal about unemployment lately he said It seems to me high time that this subject is dealt with objectively and placed in proper perspective Let's look at the figures over the last 15 years for the moment

In 1939 unemployment in the United States amounted to 17 2 per cent of the total civilian labor force in January 1950 it was 7 3 per cent and in January of this year it was 3 8 per cent of the civilian labor force It just doesn't make sense to me that we are headed for a depression in the light of facts like these

GOP in Akron Rips Bender in Patronage Tiff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Akron Ohio Republicans peeved at Rep George Bender (R Ohio) may support his opponent for the Republican senatorial nomination one of Bender's colleagues said yesterday

Rep Ayres (R Ohio) wrote Bender sentiment among some Akron Republicans is hardening against the Cleveland congressman That group may generate enough steam to make Akron congressional district Republicans vote for William Saxbe in the May primaries, said Ayres

The biggest bone of contention is a patronage matter Ayres said Akron candidates for the federal judgeship in northern Ohio and the district attorney post in Cleveland were ignored, he said

Clevelanders Judge James Connell and Sumner Canary backed by Bender and the Cuyahoga County Republican Committee, are slated for the jobs

Bender responding promptly said Ayres should have consulted Sen Bricker (R Ohio) as top Ohio man on federal appointments

Ayres making it clear he didn't mean to endorse Saxbe who is bucking the Republican party organization told Bender

'I think you should know if it turns out that my evaluation of the situation is correct I don't intend to go against the people who elected me to represent them"

Bricker

Bricker's pending language would take the place of a broader section knocked out by the Senate last week—the which clause

This section would have required action by Congress to implement any treaty as domestic law and in some cases action by state legislatures It was this which drew strongest opposition from the Eisenhower administration

Even the milder version appeared to face an uphill fight Senate Republican leaders oppose it as does Sen George (D Ga), a leading spokesman for Democrats in the debate

Bricker said in the interview that the roll call on his new language would show how many senators are willing to go down the line for the substance of his original plan

If anything milder finally is adopted by Congress he said, the whole dispute will become an important issue in the congressional elections this fall

He said that if his pending new section is adopted along with a three point plan already tentatively approved by the Senate the final result will achieve in large measure the original objectives of my amendment'

The three point package was sponsored by GOP Senate leaders who have said it is all President Eisenhower will endorse

Two provisions in this package seek to make it clear treaties and international agreements cannot override the Constitution The other would require roll call votes to ratify treaties

Mau Mau Uprising Unchecked

British Fear Rise of Kenya Terrorism

LONDON (AP)—A spell that anti white Mau Mau terrorists cast on Kenya in 1952 with knife torch and witch doctor ritual is growing despite a bomber backed campaign to crush the rebellion a British parliamentary delegation reports.

A drastic shakeup of the East African crown colony's police was proposed by the six man all party delegation yesterday to help cope with the bloody uprising that some British experts say may last a generation

Fresh from an 18-day survey of the fertile land where British security forces each month are killing off about 300 of the terrorists and capturing 150 the delegation said there was danger the movement to drive out the whites and kill loyal tribesmen would spread beyond the Kikuyu area where it was born

The 1¼ million Kikuyus number almost a fourth of Kenya's African population It is among those tribesmen—who till the fields around Nairobi the capital, and work as laborers and servants for the whites—that the Mau Mau has done its recruiting by a combination of persuasion and violence

The influence of the Mau Mau in the Kikuyu area except in certain localities has not declined the parliamentary delegation said

It has on the contrary increased In this respect the situation has deteriorated and the danger of infection outside the Kikuyu area is now greater not less than at the beginning of the emergency

Cases of brutality and corruption were cited among the colonial civil forces allied with British troops in the fight against the Mau Mau and the report said

Reorganization of the police from the highest level downwards should be accompanied by stern action to enforce discipline

Publication of the report appears certain to touch off a hot debate in the House of Commons on the colony a country of 224 960 square miles which lists coffee tea cotton and grain among its principal exports

Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton arranged to fly to Kenya Saturday for another review of the political and military strategy Field Marshal Sir John Harding chief of the imperial general staff and Britain's top soldier will accompany him

Lyttelton's methods of handling the campaign have been widely criticized both in Kenya and in Britain Mau Mau among the colonists 42 000 whites control the campaign is not tough enough They demand an emergency war cabinet to run the country But British Laborites insist strong arm methods already in use have hindered not helped, the British cause

An army totaling 34 000 men—10 battalions of British troops and the kings African Rifles 8 000 regular police and 20 000 part time police—is battling the Mau Maus

Twelve British bombers pursuing an aerial campaign instituted last April are herding them out of the highlands so the troops can get a crack at them

Authorities estimate that 3 400 Mau Mau have been killed since the outbreak of the rebellion Of perhaps 1 000 captured 100 have been hanged for murder Jails are crowded with 30 000 Kikuyus suspected of having taken the Mau Mau's blood oath

Some 700 civilians including 16 whites have been killed by the Mau Maus preciation of new plants and equipment

The latter course, if approved by Congress would cancel up to two billion dollars in eventual tax cuts now proposed in the bill It would strike out the heart of the business incentive program championed by Republicans as a long term spur to business growth

The bill would rewrite almost all tax laws not changing major rates but providing for liberal treatment in scores of complex fields and paving the way for many tax reductions to individuals and business through new or larger deductions

The committee hopes to complete section by section action today or tomorrow The bill is scheduled to come up for a final committee vote about one week later and then would be ready for the House floor

Sister Called

Prosecutor Theodore Entrekin today called Miss Rozemann's sister Mrs Mills Nichols of Findlay to testify Sternbaum was seeing Miss Rozemann before and after Mrs Sternbaum's death Let is seeking to prove Sternbaum killed his wife because of his involvement with Miss Rozemann

He is also trying to prove Sternbaum made Miss Rozemann pregnant Last week Dr Gordon Monk of Findlay testified he gave a woman registered as Mrs Margie Nistel surgical treatment for either pregnancy or miscarriage Defense attorney Paul Herbert says Miss Rozemann and Mrs Nistel are the same person

Mrs Nichols said her sister told Sternbaum last October she would go to the prosecutor and clear her conscience She said Sternbaum told her I know Margie is going to talk and I can't stop her the only thing she is going to do is ruin her own reputation mine was ruined three years ago

Mrs Moss's lawyer Cyrus [illegible] has told newsmen she has taken the position she is not now and never has been a member of the Communist party' He said Mrs Moss has been ill but probably would come before the subcommittee [illegible] the latter part of

The Moss name is another element in the growing effort by McCarthy to prove his charges that the Army has been trying to coddle and promote Communists

Perss Charges

The Wisconsin senator also has been hammering away at the Army for [illegible] dental records of Miss Perss whom McCarthy has called a fifth amendment Communist Perss now practicing privately in New York has cited McCarthy's accusations 'sheer nonsense'

In connection with the Perss case Secretary of the Army Robert T Stevens has ordered Brig Gen Ralph W Zwicker, Perss' 1st commanding officer at Camp Kilmer N J and Maj Gen W [illegible] Bergin the Army adjutant general not to hear a McCarthy subpoena at it

Stevens today ordered McCarthy off the hearings of the Army-McCarthy-Senate staff fracas after the senator had cross examined Zwicker in secret session last week which complicated that the treatment he got from the senator

May Appear

Stevens has arranged to appear before the McCarthy subcommittee tomorrow for what promises to be a dramatic climax to the controversy in full view of a national television audience

Dr Perss it was learned in New York has been called to appear before the subcommittee she made as Stevens [illegible] would be his third session with the group

In its statement late yesterday, the Army said that following its own investigation of Mrs Moss background he was lifted on Feb 5 to a job in the Signal Corps supply section in [illegible] Army said she no longer handles any classified of a security nature

That brought demands from some Democratic and Republican subcommittee members for clarification by Army witness Sen McClellan (D Ark) Jackson (D Wash) and Mundt (R SD) all said they want to hear the Army explain why Mrs Moss was shifted

Closed Door Hearing

McCarthy said Army people responsible for keeping her name would testify behind closed doors in the afternoon but he kept secret her name

Before the five persons McCarthy said could be charged as members of a Communist party cell with Mrs Moss were to appear at a public hearing (10 30 a m EST)

McCarthy said they could be so identified by Mrs Mary S Markward the former undercover FBI informant who said yesterday the Annie Lee Moss she knew was dropped from Communist membership lists at about the same time the name of a Mrs Annie Lee Moss turned up on the government payroll

Mrs Markward said there is no question in my mind that the two are the same person and committee counsel Ray Cromley thought there was no doubt about it

But Mrs Markward said he was not sure he could identify Mrs Moss if she saw her again after several years

up last Friday when at Langer's direction counsel for a judiciary subcommittee publicly read into the record charges that Warren as California governor had followed the Marxist line had appointed dishonest judges and had been under the influence of a notorious liquor lobbyist

Wayne Smithey the subcommittee counsel said that no attempt had been made to determine whether these and other charges were true or false or otherwise to evaluate them before they were aired publicly

Backed by Bar

The American Bar Assn s Committee on Communist Tactics in a letter to Langer made public at Chicago yesterday termed Warren one of the foremost foes of communism who during his public service proved his steadfast Americanism both by word and deed The committee is headed by Herbert R O'Conor former Democratic senator from Maryland

Langer said he had received telegrams asking permission to testify from Frederick J Wilson and Burr McCloskey They were identified as sources of some of the charges against Warren

Deputy Att Gen William P Rogers told the subcommittee last Saturday Wilson was a fugitive from justice for perjury'

Warren Olney assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, testified McCloskey has a long record of association with Trotskyite organizations

Favors Hearing Charges

Langer said in an interview before today s committee session that he personally favors letting both Wilson and McCloskey testify

He said he did not know Wilson but had known McCloskey 'for a great many years and that McCloskey seemed to be a very fine gentleman'

Dignity's Cause

By George Sokolsky

Because of an interview published in the "Providence Sunday Journal" of January 3, 1954, Arthur H. Dean, our ambassador at Panmunjom, has been put on the spot as an intervenor for Red China. I have written some on this subject and did a broadcast attacking Dean's position. Now, it appears that Dean is on the same side of the fence that most Americans are.

IN A LETTER to Alfred Kohlberg, dated February 17, Dean said:

"Let me say as an individual citizen:

"I am in favor of a foreign policy which is formulated and carried out solely and only in the interest of the American people and which will defeat and set back the Communists everywhere and at all times. To be realistic there should be a complete and constant re-examination of this policy at all times so that American lives will not be lost and we will not be caught unawares.

"I am not now and never have been in favor of recognizing Communist China.

"I am not now and never have been in favor of admitting Communist China into the United Nations or into the family of nations. I admire very much the work of Nationalist China in the United Nations and particularly Mr. T. F. Tsiang who speaks effectively and to the point.

"I am not now and never have been in favor of relaxing trade embargoes on Red China or North Korea.

"To recognize Red China or to admit her to the U.N. would be a severe blow, not only to Nationalist China but to the morale of nations we are trying to aid in the fight against Communism. Further it would hand to the Reds on a silver platter control over the large number of Chinese now resident in South East Asia and control over their assets in the rubber, manufacturing, fishing, insurance and shipping fields which they would use against us.

"So long as it does not involve us in war or in the needless loss of American boys' lives, I am in favor of aid to Chiang Kai-shek. I am not in favor of our participating in a military attack on the mainland. It would involve a long war of attrition 9,000 miles away. The Japanese couldn't win it across the Sea of Japan, without having commitments in Europe.

"I was asked to go to Panmunjom to attempt to negotiate time, place and composition of the political conference on Korea. Except as related to these matters, I have no authority, have been asked to do nothing else, and except for this limited role have never been asked to participate in the formulation of our Far Eastern policy at any time.

"That is a matter for the president, the secretary of state, and assistant secretary of state for the Far East, and Senate and House leaders."

'No more unequivocal statement has been made by anyone, certainly by no one in the government except Vice President Richard Nixon. Senator Knowland has, of course, been emphatic in this direction.

Now, what becomes of the "Providence Journal" interview in which Dean is reported to have said:

"I don't mind repeating my belief that it is in the selfish interest of the American people to put on a new set of glasses and really examine with a hard critical stare whether there is any possibility of putting Chiang Kai-shek back on the mainland. If we were genies with a bottle we would put Chiang back on the mainland, but we aren't genies and we haven't got a bottle.

"I think there is a possibklity the Chinese Communists are more interested in developing themselves in China than they are in international Communism. If we could use that as a divisive method of putting a wedge between the Chinese Communists and the Soviet Union, I think we might try it."

THIS INTERVIEW I take it, is now completely repudiated and and that Dean's signature will go on the petition of The Committee for One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

If I am to apologize for overemphasizing the "Providence Journal" interview, I must also congratulate Arthur H. Dean for being in a good cause — the cause of American dignity.

New Federation

By Victor Riesel

What time is better than tax time to tell the public it could live more cheaply and pay a few bucks less in taxes if it whipped up some wrath against the nation's crime syndicates?

RIESEL

For now comes news that the FBI has been forced to spend $500,000 investigating corruption, murder and thievery in the vast Port of New York alone. The mobs in this port cost us this half a million dollars in addition to the increased prices on food and other materials flowing into the country under the goon's personal terror tax.

That money was spent by teams of FBI agents, working sometimes in pairs and sometimes in squads of 500, blanketing an area

It might add that this would be a good moment to declare "Be-Kind-To-FBI-Agents-Week". J. Edgar Hoover's time sheets reveal that the G-men are each carrying a case load of 17 to 18 probes. They gave up 5,679 days of annual leave in 1953 and have worked an estimated 2,824,026 hours of overtime of their own volution and without pay.

For the unions and the public to have sat by and permitted a situation to develop where the G-men would also be forced to probe waterfront racketeering is, at the very least, unfair to these men and their families.

IN DISCLOSING these figures, Hoover said that the investigation had provided evidence for grand jury proceedings. We may yet see smashed a ring sucking 350 million dollars a year out of frightened dockwallopers and the public itself.

There is one man who can substantially speed the crushing of the nation's toughest mob — so hardened that it provides the "toops" and "enforcers" for its out-of-town blood brothers. That man is John L. Lewis, once again the persona dramatis in a power play among labor's giants.

For, unless some whim changes the detailed battle plans and timetable of that most colorful giant of them all, John L. will, in a week, become the nation's most influential waterfront leader.

The "T"s have been crossed and the "I"s dotted on documents paving the way for a new waterfront international union within the United Mine Workers of America.

The orphan days of the old International Longshoremen's Assn are about over. Having rejected George Meany's invitation to bring their cleansed locals back into the AFL, the leaders of waterfront unions outside of New York, in ports running south from Philadelphia around to Texas, have quietly agreed to go into the miners' federation of unions.

But they do want their own international within Lewis' outfit.

LONGSHOREMEN have been telling this to Lewis personally in a series of lengthy conferences. They are convinced that he will permit them to set up a new district of the miners — District 51, perhaps. They don't want to lose their identity in brother Denny Lewis' District 50.

Some of the dock leaders have even agreed with John L. on a name which will run something like the United Longshoremen, Dockworkers (etc), of America, affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America.

John Lewis is not unmindful of the problems he takes on those aging shoulders. The swashbuckler is still in him as he heads towards 75. He is aware of the voluminous FBI report. He has detailed reports and the criminal records of some 77 ILA waterfront toughs on his desk.

He is moving in now, not only out of hatred for the AFL president, George Meany, who opened the fight on the waterfront mobs last September, but because he now is bitter too against the Teamster's Union chief, Dave Beck.

These are powerful men for anyone to take on, but Lewis has tangled with some tough ones before.

JOHN'S ANGER was provoked by Beck, when the New York Teamsters sued Lewis' New York waterfront friends for 51 million dollars, charging that the old longshoremen's union had kept AFL truck drivers off the docks, causing them to lose wages.

When Lewis heard of this suit, he roared. He called Dave Beck. He told Beck in that heavy growling basso of his, that he considered such action unethical.

In effect, he said: "How could you Dave, come and sit with me an discuss joint action while knowing that your men were planning to sue my men for 51 million charging them with the vilest crimes?"

Then John L. gave his erstwhile friend Dave three days to get the suit withdrawn.

At Beck's 'end nothing happened. Things moved at Lewis' headquarters. With dreams of a third federation of labor hitting a rude dawn, Lewis decided the time had come to start building by himself along the nation's East and Gulf coasts. But he must clean up first. We'll see!

First Date

By Saul Pett

NEW YORK (AP) — A charming $600 tax exemption I know recently had her first date.

We'd better call this girl Jane since that isn't her name. But as she is now 11 and knows her rights, her father can no longer write so freely. She might sue for invasion of privacy.

Most girls in her class went to the square dance in the school gym with other girls. But Jane was invited by a real, live boy, name of David, age 12, "and what's more," she said, "he's paying the 35 cents for my ticket." For years, Jane has been a willing target for any dollar diplomat.

BY WAY OF PREPARATION, she fought for and won a new, full, quilted skirt "that twirls out in a heavenly way." She fought for and lost a pair of silk stockings. She asked for and got 50 cents to buy David a soda after the dance "since it's only fair."

On the big day, she had her hair washed and set and the first time in her life tolerated the curlers long enough to make order out of chaos.

An hour before David's scheduled arrival, she was fully dressed and shining like a new queen. With royal majesty, she refused to let any but herself peek through the front window curtains to see who was coming up the front walk.

SHE WAS EPECIALLY adamant that her 8-year-old sister, a pig-tailed pixie called Kathy, be held under strict surveillance throughout.

"When's he gonna slip the ring on your finger?" Kathy said.

"Ma, make her shut up!" Jane shouted.

"When's he gonna pop the question?" Kathy persisted. She is clearly a girl who has watched too much television, has an exalted notion of her sister's age and, besides, harbors a secret desire to share her room with no one.

Kathy was wrestled into silence and Jane ran up to her room, announcing that we were to tell David she'd be down in a few minutes. The dorbell rang and Jane was down before the echo died.

"Hi, David."

"Hi, Jane."

"Come meet my father and mother." (There was no mention of her sister.)

DAVID WAS A SOLID young man with curly blond hair and smart, navy pea jacket. Remembering my own self-consciousness at his age, I resolved to set him at his ease.

"I'm very glad to meet you," he said, and shook my hand with startling firmness. I was about to mention the Dodgers' chances this year, when David, looking me squarely in the eye, inquired about my health, encouraged me to talk about my odd jobs around the house and assured me his father had much the same problems. In no time at all, he had me at my ease.

As they were leaving, Jane's mother asked (somewhat timidly, I thought), "What time can we expect you back?"

"About 10," David said. "I always bring my dates back about 10."

There seemed to be no arguing with that.

At 10:08 (I just happened to notice), they returned. David said so long, and Jane said so long and "Gee, I had a wo-o-onderful time!"

There was something so direct and fresh about their goodnights. How long, I thought sadly, will it take before she learns to be devious, to say not quite what she means?

ABOUT HER EVENING, Jane told us only a little: that the dance was wonderful, that David insisted on paying for the sodas and she used her money for comic books. And then she rushed upstairs to write in her diary.

Two days later, it was all over. David wanted to buy her stamp collection but Jane thought the offered price was outrageously low. They still aren't speaking, and I keep worrying that Jane keeps worrying that he never really loved her for herself but had his eyes, all along, on that stamp collection.

Marilyn Picks Up Cold During Tour Of Front in Korea

TOKYO (AP)—Marilyn Monroe is on her way home today with a cold, a silver medal and husband Joe DiMaggio.

The blonde screen actress got the cold and the medal for her four-day show tour of the Korean front line, playing on open, chilly stages in a low-cut cocktail dress.

A colonel handed her the medal of appreciation from the Far East Command as she and DiMaggio boarded a Pan American plane. They are due at San Francisco tonight.

Marilyn planned to rest in a berth for the first part of her trip.

The DiMaggios were accompanied by Lefty O'Doul, manager of the Pacific Coast League San Diego Padres, and Mrs O'Doul.

DiMaggio and O'Doul coached Japan's professional baseball teams.

Pope Has Restful Night, Still Under Constant Care

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII spent a fairly restful night Vatican sources said today Rounding out a month of illness he remained under constant care

The 77 year old spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic Church has been confined to his Vatican apartment since Jan 25 when he was stricken by severe gastritis that steadily weakened him A round the clock watch established when he felt ill has never been lifted

Asked today about the nature of the illness to which the newspaper referred, authoritative Vatican sources said this was 'presumed to be gastritis pending X rays to be made of the pontiff's stomach wall and adjoining organs ' He has been unable to keep down the barium solution necessary for such tests

Excessive pessimism about the pontiff's health is not justified the Vatican sources said, reporting his heart was in no danger and that his slow improvement continues

State Report Hits Bucyrus City Hospital

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus City Hospital's administration was criticized for a large increase in delinquent bills in a report of the examination of the city's government by State Examiners Eli Harris and Albert D. Myers.

The examiners' report, which covers the period from Feb. 14, 1951, to April 39, 1953, was released this week and showed only minor errors in departmental accounts.

Regarding the increase in delinquent accounts at the hospital the report stated that unpaid bills totaled $55,201, in April, 1953, an increase of $21,201, in 26 months. In addition, the hospital wrote off unpaid bills amounting to $17,490 in August, 1948, the report states.

The examiners recommended in their report that "a more determined effort be made to collect all accounts in full when a patient is released and that a person from the x-ray, laboratory or emergency room accompany the patient to the cashier before the patient is permitted to leave."

The examiners said the practice of accepting promissory notes instead of cash "is admirable if the notes collectable are collected." They noted that many of the notes are on file at the hospital and "many of these are uncollectable and therefore worthless."

Legality of the municipal recreation commission also was questioned in the report, which pointed out that the board has six members although the ordinance, establising the board, provided for only five members. The examiners recommended "that the number of members be reconsidered and appointments made to conform to the statutes."

St. Mary Slated for First Tournament Play Tonight

Irish, Granville in Opening Battle at Otterbein College

St. Mary attempts to qualify for the Central District Class B basketball tournament tonight when it takes the floor against Granville in the Exempted Village and Parochial Tournament in Otterbein gymnasium.

The first game on tonight's program, it is scheduled for 7 p.m. A second match at 8:30 p.m. pits Newark St. Francis, 18-8, against Mt. Vernon St. Vincent.

Coach Ray Robbins' Irish will be out to equal and better last year's tournament performance. Finishing last season with an 11-9 mark, the Irish whipped Columbus St. Mary 76-55 in the exempted village and parochial tourney to advance into district competition.

St. Mary then downed Reynoldsburg 58-51 in overtime and Howard 61-54 before bowing to Hebron 54-50 in the district tournament semi-finals.

The Irish opponents bring a 10-7 mark into the fray after whipping Centerburg and Summit Station twice during the regular season, Homer, Millersport, Hanover Toboso, Westerville, Utica and Liberty Union.

Granville lost verdicts to Upper Arlington, Newark St. Francis, Lancaster St. Marys, Delaware, Thornville, Hebron and Johnstown.

St. Mary will again be giving away height. Two Granville players — Jim Showman and Ray Montgomery — will stand above the Irish starting lineup.

Showman, who stands 6-4 and plays the center position, is the leading Granville scorer, averaging approximately 15 points a game. Montgomery is a 6-1 forward.

They will team with Pete Unger, 5-11, at a forward and Ken Moss, 5-0½, and Jack Pheneger, 5-9, at the guard slots.

St. Mary is expected to go with Mike Anderson and Jack O'Keeffe at the forwards, Roger Micheli at center, and Butch Merchant and Jerry Ballenger at the guards.

John Messenger and Larry Ryan are also expected to break into the Irish lineup during the game.

Anderson is the leading Irish scorer with 291 points in 20 games for a 14.5 average. He was held to under 10 points only thrice during the season. Micheli is the next best scorer with 213 points while Merchant has parted the nets for an even 200, Messenger 83, Ballenger 78 and O'Keeffe 74. Ryan has 45 points to his credit.

St. Mary takes a 13-7 mark into tonight's battle after dropping two of its last three starts. The Irish were edged by Delaware Willis 50-47 and then walloped by Fredericktown 73-54 before trimming Marysville 47-46 in a pair of overtime periods last week.

Marion Battles Johnstown at Coliseum Rink

Marion's Barons protect their runner-up position in the International Hockey League tonight at the Coliseum when they face off with the third-place Johnstown Jets.

The visitors warmed up for their appearance here with a 3-2 victory over cellar dwelling Milwaukee last night. The win moved the Jets from a third spot tie with Toledo into undisputed possession of third with 65 points, only three behind the local skaters.

However, a Johnstown win would not nudge the Barons out of second tonight.

In ther IHL action last night, Ft. Wayne contined its winning ways and fight for a spot in the playoffs by trimming Louisville 6-1 while Grand Rapids protected its fifth place spot with a 5-3 win over Troy.

Absent from action tonight and for the rest of the week for the Barons will be Kenny Schultz. He has been slowed by an old ankle injury which has been aggravated and has been ordered off the ice for the next four games.

Elm Valley Defeats Olentangy To Enter Championship Tilt

ASHLEY — Elm Valley's Aces moved into the finals of the Delaware County cage tournament at Delaware last night with a 61-60 victory over Olentangy, regular season league champs. The win avenged two losses at the hands of Olentangy during the season.

Olentangy will take on Scioto Valley Thursday night with Elm Valley opposing the winner Friday night for the tourney title.

The winners trailed during the first half but took the lead at the three quarter mark, 52-45, and held on for the win.

Elm Valley lost John Humes and Walt Borchers on fouls late in the final period with the Aces leading by five and seven points. Olentangy cut the Elm Valley lead to two points with 15 seconds left and after Bouder missed one of two free throws which would have tied the score, Elm Valley stalled out the clock.

Humes paced the Elm Valley attack with 21 points while Ed Vanausdle added 14 and Gene Boren 12. Ronald Kelly had 21 for the losers.

Woman Title Bout Tops Armory Card

Five matches including a world's girl championship bout have been arranged for the wrestling card Thursday at the Marion Armory.

June Byers, recognized champion among the girls, will defend her title and belt against Barbara Baker. The latter is one of the younger women wrestlers in action.

Three one-fall matches will get the program underway at 8:30 p.m. and will be followed by a battle royal for which there will be no time limit.

The one-fall matches pit Charlie Carr, one of the best-known wrestlers before World War II, against Scotty Williams, the tri-state junior heavyweight champion; Bowery Boy Hurley against "Aztec" Garcia; and Jim Lewis against Martino Angelo.

A $100 purse will go to the last wrestler left in the ring in the battle royal. All the wrestlers in the three one-fall matches will take part in it.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

A packed house at Ashland High School last night watched Ashland College bow 121-81 to Rio Grande. They also watched Rio's Bevo Francis take a 40-minute beating from the Eagles.

SHORT

With a man hanging from each elbow and occasionally one riding his back, Francis still managed to pop in 54 points before a crowd of around 1,300.

Playing with an injured ankle heavily taped, Francis had a noticeable limp throughout the game and after the final whistle, his ankle gave way in the Rio dressing room. Newt Oliver, his coach, rushed his scoring sensation to Mansfield where X-rays showed Francis probably would be ready for a game Saturday night in St. Louis against Shurtleff College. The foot was reinjured during a scramble under the boards with three minutes left.

FRANCIS TOLD newsmen the game was "one of the roughest I've played" and Oliver echoed his statement. "Never in three years I've been coaching him has Bevo taken such a beating," the fiery little Rio coach said. At one point in the first quarter, Newt leaped from the bench and motioned his charges from the floor. Level-headed Dick Barr, playing before his home fans, calmed Newt down and Francis, who moved toward the locker room door at Newt's first motion, also returned. During the game Oliver was charged with a pair of technical fouls by the officials.

Each team was awarded 52 free throws with Rio connecting on 43 and Ashland on 31. Francis dropped in 28 of his points from the foul line and hit for only 13 field goals.

Jim Lawler, Harding High School cage coach, walked away from the game with the comment that "Rio Grande has a couple of other pretty fair basketball players." Play of Francis impressed Jim but so did the all-around work of Barr, Wayne Wiseman and Bill Ripperger.

SEVERAL COACHES seated in press row paid more attention to the antics of Oliver than to the action. In the first period, when Newt leaped from the bench and walked toward an official yelling "call 'em, you dumbhead" he brought down the house. That was worth the first technical foul. The second came when Newt raced onto the floor in the final frame to insist an Ashland pass was out of bounds.

Rio dopped behind 30-21 at the quarter mark before solving Ashland's zone defense. With six minutes left in the second the team took the lead for keeps and with three minutes left in the third, Newt gave his team the order, "We're far enough ahead now to start feeding Bevo." The score at the time was 74-58.

During the entire fourth period, the Rio squad fed the towering Francis. Lawler estimated the score probably could have been 161 had the Rio squad taken the shots it passed up in favor of its scoring sensation.

Ted Lyons is a graduate of Baylor University.

RASCHI FOR CARDINALS. Vic Raschi, the 34-year-old pitcher, sold to the St. Louis Cardinals by the New York Yankees, poses with his new headgear at his beach house in St. Petersburg, Fla. Terms of the sale were $75,000 and two minor league players. Raschi had incurred the resentment of George Weiss, Yankee general manager, by his attitude during a holdout campaign.

Baseball for Boys Commission Plans For Diamond Play

Another baseball season for Marion youths will move a step forward with another meeting of the Marion Baseball for Boys Commission at the YMCA Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Commission members will prepare for another season at the monthly meeting.

Much progress has been made in an effort to improve the program, officials say. The program will be basically the same as last year and officials report all sponsors have accepted teams again this year.

The Commission is considering an advanced program but it is not in a position to release information. An announcement concerning the new program will be made if and when details are worked out, officials explain.

Construction of a new Little League diamond just north and east of the present diamond at Lincoln Park will get underway as soon as the weather is favorable, officials said. The field will be complete in itself and will be lighted.

The additional field will allow games in Little League and Pony League to be played on the same nights, Lincoln Park being used for the Pony League. Officials say much of the preliminary work for the new field has been completed and that the field should begin to take shape with the OK of the weatherman.

Anyone interested in the baseball program here has been asked to contact Harold Henry at 127 S. State St. by calling him at 2-3037 or any other commission member. Managers and coaches are still needed and as yet umpires have not been determined.

A total of 23 men comprise the commission here at present. Members and officers of the Baseball for Boys Commission for 1954 include John Luginbuhl, president; Jack Hughes, first vice president; Ken Edington, second vice president; Bob Cunningham, secretary; Harold Henry, treasurer; and Walt Grumblatt, John Short, Norm Schnelker, Ray Semmler, Ray Silver, Charles Morbitt, Bob Wiley, Elmer Baker, Arch Brumbage, Bob Hochstetter, Robert Bagley, Virgil Campbell, Walt Gallatin, Robert Peach, Dick McCleary, Karl Kay, Ben Wiant and Bob Scott, members.

Raschi Deal Boosts Hope Of St. Louis

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have been given only a slim chance of winning this season's National League pennant, may have to be reckoned with now that they've strengthened the department they were weakest in—pitching, first base and shortstop.

The mound problem was taken care of quite adequately yesterday by the purchase of right-hander Vic Raschi from the New York Yankees.

Raschi, who helped pitch the Yankees to six American League flags, only won 13 games last year. But he is expected to take up the slack caused by the loss of Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell to the Army.

The Redbirds, of course, are hoping that lightning will strike twice. For in 1945, the Chicago Cubs purchased another big right-hander—Hank Borowy—from the Yankees and he was no mean factor in their pennant victory.

Manager Eddie Stanky was thrilled by the news.

"Vic gives me another starter along with Gerry Staley and Harvey Haddix," he said. "He's a great competitor and I'll be counting on him to win some of our more important games."

The addition of Raschi plus those of first baseman Tom Alston and shortstop Alex Grammas appears to give the Cardinals a solid outfit, one which could well give the Brooklyn Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves a heap of trouble.

Alston, a 6-5 Negro, drove out 23 homers for San Diego last season and Grammas, who hit .307 at Kansas City, was tabbed one of the best minor league prospects in 1953. Although he injured his throwing arm in practice last Monday, he is expected to succeed Solly Hemus as the regular shortstop.

Although the Raschi purchase price was not disclosed, it was believed to be about $75,000 and two minor league players.

Looking at the deal objectively, the Yankees did extremely well financially. Besides the sale money they received, they got rid of Raschi's $40,000 salary (Vic signed with St. Louis almost immediately). This plus the two minor leaguers and the Yankees came out of it almost $150,000 to the good.

North Robinson Wins

Top-Seeded Mt. Zion Upset In Crawford Action 55-53

BUCYRUS — Sulphur Springs, last year's Crawford County Class B tourney champions, will meet a fighting North Robinson quintet in the tourney's championship finals here Saturday night.

In the tourney's biggest upset, underdog North Robinson nosed out top-seeded Mt. Zion, 55-53, and Sulphur Springs came from behind to edge Chatfield, 59-57, in championship semi-finals last night.

Leesville walked over Whetstone, 68-43, in a consolation bracket quarter-final game.

In Thursday night's consolation semi-finals, New Washington is paired against Chatfield and Mt. Zion hits the comeback trail against Leesville.

Robinson, which had won only four games in 17 starts in the regular season and twice had been beaten soundly by Mt. Zion, went ahead of the county league champions, 47-46, with three minutes playing time left.

With a minute left Robinson led, 53-49. Brad Chandler and Chuck Grove got free throws for Robinson to end the Zion threat during which Dale Shroll and Jim Kuhn got fielders.

John Blackford meshed 24 points while Mike Winch was high for the losers with 21.

Chatfield built up an early lead but lost it about halfway through the final period when Sulphur edged ahead, 53-51, and they never regained it. Sulphur forward Ron Kalb pushed through 28 points, including six points in the last two minutes. Vic Wurm hit 22 for Chatfield.

High point man for the evening was center Joe Smith of Leesville with 33 points. Whetstone held a 14-12 lead going into the second quarter but after that it was all Leesville.

Yankee Brass Pleased While Stengel Burns

By JOE REICHLER

ST PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Ex-Yankee pitching star Vic Raschi, unloaded by the world champions for alleged "complacency," was tabbed today as the fellow who might fire his new club, the St. Louis Cardinals, to a National League pennant.

The stunning announcement of Raschi's sale by the Yankees to the Cardinals for $75,000 was made yesterday after he was surprisingly waived out of the American League.

Redbird Manager Eddie Stanky was quick to declare jubilantly:

"The acquisition of Raschi should make the Cardinals a definite pennant threat. He will be our No. 3 starter behind Gerry Staley and Harvey Haddix. I look for him to win from 12 to 16 games. I also look for him to beat Brooklyn, the team that must be beaten for the flag."

Everybody appeared happy over the deal except New York Manager Casey Stengel, who reportedly was in disagreement with General Manager George Weiss over the disposal of a pitcher who had helped him win five straight world championships.

Stengel reluctantly agreed to the sale only after he had become convinced that the veteran pitcher and the front office could never amicably settle their salary dispute. When he was informed that Raschi had intended to get in touch with Yankee officials yesterday morning but had postponed it because of other pressing matters, the old skipper really burned.

"If he only had contacted us," Casey growled, "he'd still be a Yankee today. I'd see to that. But no, he had to sit on his high horse and refuse to meet us halfway."

Weiss said in explaining the sale:

"I don't want to make Raschi the whipping boy, but there is an attitude of complacency on the club. Some of the players have become independently wealthy through the winning of five straight championships.

"Some of the players acted as if they were the employers and the club the employe."

Weiss was referring to the stubborn refusal of Raschi and other Yankee holdouts to meet with club officials to discuss their salary differences. Raschi, who dropped from 21 victories in 1951 to 16 in 1952 and 13 last year, had steadfastly ignored a contract calling for a 25 per cent cut on his $40,000 salary for 1953.

Neither club was willing to disclose the sale price but it was reliably learned that the cash involved was $75,000 in addition to two minor league players who would be acceptable to the Yankees and who would be delivered later.

The Cardinals elated by the acquisition of a proven right-hander who they feel plugs one of their most glaring weaknesses, apparently weren't the least bit fazed by Raschi's healthy salary demands. It took them less than half an hour to come to terms with the big pitcher, who signed a contract reportedly calling for $40,000. This would make him the highest salaried pitcher in National League history.

Saxton, Bratton Battle Tonight In Bid at Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Johnny Saxton and Johnny Bratton meet here tonight in a 10-round scrap at the arena tentatively billed as the first of a welterweight title elimination series.

The "tentative" description would become permanent if welter king Kid Gavilan should beat Carl (Bobo) Olsen in their coming battle for the middleweight crown. The 147-pound title then would be vacant and up for grab by the likes of Saxton, Bratton, Carmine Basilio and Billy Graham.

Should Gavilan lose in this effort to annex the middleweight title, the Saxton-Bratton winner still would be in a good position for a title shot. A sellout crowd in excess of 7,500 is expected for the nationally televised (CBS) bout at 10 p.m., EST.

The 23-year-old Saxton, from Flushing, L. I., ruled an early 9-5 favorite over the 26-year-old Chicago veteran.

The full house is drawing as much attention as the fight in view of promoter Herman Taylor's oft-expressed opinion that television is ruining boxing gates. Taylor has reluctantly joined with the international boxing club of New York in promoting a once-a-month TV fight from Philadelphia. His face was slightly darker than pink yesterday when he admitted the fight looked like a sellout.

Marion Squads Invited To Mansfield Tourney

Basketball teams in this area were today notified of the second annual men's independent basketball tournament sponsored by the Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce. It will be held March 11, 12, 13, 19 and 20.

Entries may be sent to Lowell Sickler, who is in charge of tourney registration, at the Mansfield YMCA.

Entry fee is $10. The tournament champion and runner-up will receive trophies while individual awards will go to the leading scorer and most valuable player.

Tournament officials hope to receive entries from 16 Mansfield area teams. Ashland Faultless Rubber beat out 13 other clubs for the tourney title last year.

Committee chairmen for the tournament are Mel Orr, officials; Jim Roberts, ticket sales, George Angus, publicity; Al Demyan, awards, Earl Orr, trophies; Gene Goin, scheduling of gyms; Jim Kerman, program; and Fred Braden, advertising.

Industries Cagers Fall To Reformatory Quintet

A slow start by Marion Industries led to an 88-84 defeat at the hands of Mansfield Reformatory there Saturday.

The Ohio State Reformatory club popped in 27 points in the opening period for a 27-13 bulge and increased it to 46-28 at halftime.

Twenty-six points in the third period and 30 more in the final stanza weren't enough to carry Marion Industries to the victory.

Five players hit in double figures for the winners. Griffin topped the Marion Industries scoring with 19 points while Harold Dillion hit for 17 and R. Mulvaine 16. Miller added 13.

Running Bases To Top Agenda At Tribe Camp

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Base running will be the first "cure" advanced by Manager Al Lopez as the Cleveland Indians open spring training today on the Arizona desert.

"That was one of our big weaknesses last year," said Lopez, who spent the winter in Florida golfing and fishing."

"We lost a few ball games through poor base running, so I figured we had better work on it this spring."

Lopez—beginning his fourth year with the Indians—explained it this way:

"Not right away, but after a few days, I'll have players work on leadoffs and base running while other guys are hitting. That way they'll get practical experience. The batting practice pitchers can try to keep them from running."

Absent from the camp and still unsigned were pitchers Early Wynn, Bob Lemon and Bob Feller, outfielder Wally Westlake and rookies Bob Prentice, an infielder, and Don Mossi, a pitcher.

Feller, back in Cleveland after a Florida vacation, said he will leave for Tucson Friday and does not want to be classed a holdout.

He missed seeing General Manager Hank Greenberg yesterday when Greenberg left for Arizona, but said he hopes to come to terms by telephone.

Pitchers technically can be termed holdouts after the first practice session, but infielders and outfielders need not report until Monday.

Greenberg said he thinks "all the players will be signed in a few days."

Lopez appeared optimistic about the club's chances this season and said he believed it is "stronger than it was at this time last year, especially now that we have Dave Philley."

He said the new outfielder "may be the answer to all of our troubles in right field," but wouldn't go so far as to say Philley has the position nailed down.

Mt. Victory Nails Spot In Hardin County Finals

MT. VICTORY — Mt. Victory, pressing all the way, notched a 54-52 win over Alger last night at Ohio Northern's Taft gymnasium to enter the championship game of the Harding County tournament.

The league champions fell behind 13-10 in the first period but came on fast to take a 24-21 lead at the half. Jack Jolliff and Chuck Suer each neeted 19 points for the winners.

Alger's attack was led by Jim Cramer with 22 and Merle Wireman with 17.

Hardin-Northern and Roundhead collide at 8 p.m. tonight for the other berth in the championship game. The finals are scheduled Friday at 8 p.m.

Platinum sells for about $1,300 a pound.

Redlegs Boast Cousin Act and Brothers' Duo

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Two Hatton's and two Nuxhall's will be among the 50 players who will greet Manager Birdie Tebbetts when the Cincinnati Redlegs begin spring training tomorrow.

Second-baseman Grady Hatton, a Red since 1946, will be joined by his cousin, Gene, an infielder for Tulsa and Columbia last season.

Joe Nuxhall won 9 and lost 11 for the Cincinnati club in 1953. His younger brother, Bob, pitched last summer for the Camp Lejeune Marines.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Manager Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox has had a brief look at two rookie third base prospects and reports himself "pleasantly surprised."

Joe Kirrene and Jim Baumer, Sox bonus signees before recently concluded armed forces services, demonstrated their ability for 45 minutes in the presence of the Sox boss.

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Warren Hacker, Chicago Cubs pitcher, is hoping the middle finger of his throwing hand develops a blister—and soon.

The blond fireballer blames his mediocre record of last season on the fact he didn't develop a blister on the finger until early June. That is too late, he maintains.

"I usually get a blister during spring training," said Hacker at the Cub camp in Mesa. "Then after the blister breaks the finger develops a callous and I'm all right for the rest of the year."

Hacker won 12 and lost 19 last season.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Manager Charlie Grimm got his first good look yesterday at three rookie hurlers in the Milwaukee Braves' training camp and he reacted with enthusiasm.

Rookies Phil Paine, Ben Johnson and Charlie Gorin each took a brief turn on the mound. Braves' captain Del Crandall remarked, "I'm glad I won't be hitting against Paine all summer."

The pitcher in probably the best condition is Bob Buhl, the rapid righthander who kept in trim by playing winter ball in Puerto Rico.

6-Year Otis-Kaiser Legal Battle Ended

CLEVELAND (AP) — A series of litigations lasting nearly six years ended yesterday with a joint statement issued by William R. Daley, president of Otis & Co., and Edgar F. Kaiser, president of the Kaiser Motors Corp.

The statement said, "An agreement has been reached to drop all claims and counterclaims filed or pending, involving the two companies and their principals.

The dispute between the two companies began in February 1948 when Otis, a securities firm, withdrew from a contract by which it was to offer publicly a 10 million dollar issue of Kaiser-Frazer common stock.

Business, Industry, Education Day Scheduled Here Thursday

Nearly 185 persons will attend a luncheon at Hotel Harding tomorrow marking the halfway point in the Marion County Commercial Seniors Day in Industry.

About 150 of those present will be students and teachers from the county schools, the remainder, members of the Industry Leaders Conference and Manufacturers Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting will have no formal guest speaker. Instead, a half dozen men active in preparations for the BIE Day events will make brief remarks.

Jack Hughes of the Marion Industries will tell about the essay contest, and invite the students to participate by writing an essay of not more than 1,000 words on their impressions of the tours. He will explain the purpose of the contest is to improve future BIE days on the basis of the student impressions.

Students are to turn their essays into their school principals by March 9. The principals select the best three for submission to the Chamber of Commerce. Hughes and R. T. Mason, manager of radio station WMRN, will judge the compositions for neatness, clarity, originality and scope of impressions. Prizes—$15 for first, $10 for second and $5 for third—will be awarded March 12.

Speaking for the Chamber of Commerce will be Edgar Barnhart president, and J. H. Walker, chairman of the Manufacturers Council, the chamber committee sponsoring the BIE day.

Representing the schools, Dewitt Mills and Ivan Barnhart, superintendent and assistant superintendent of county schools, will also make brief remarks.

Invocation will be by Rev. J. W. Spears, pastor of the Green Camp Methodist Church. Jackson Taft of the Fulfillment Corp. of America will preside. Musical entertainment will be a clarinet quartet from Claridon school.

Throughout the day the commercial seniors from 11 county schools will take one of five tours of 20 Marion business and industry concerns. They will study practical applications of their school commercial studies.

McLeod Pulls No Punches

State Department Chief Of Security Under Fire

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert Walter Scott McLeod, the State Department's security chief is a former football player who is making headlines in the political arena with line plunges and end runs while the stands cheer and jeer.

It began with the Republicans cheering and the Democrats jeering as McLeod a husky 39-year-old with a hide as tough as a hippo's ripped through the State Department in search of Communists and security risks.

Now some Democrats are beginning to smile. After McLeod's series of Lincoln Day speeches for the Republican party they think he may be in embarrassment to the party McLeod himself is wondering if he hasn't become something of a problem to the Republicans.

In retrospect he believes his speaking tour may have been "ill advised." He frankly says that since he became a target of the Democrats he may be dropped from his $15,000 a year job which bears the title administrator of the Bureau of Security, Consular Affairs and Personnel.

McLeod unquestionably has aroused the ire of Democrats. Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D-NY) for example characterized him as a "party huckster canvassing votes." "It's improper, said Celler, "for anyone who holds so sensitive a position as the security officer to enter the hurly-burly of the political arena."

On the other hand the man who hired him, Under Secretary of State Donold Lourie thinks this former Iowa newspaperman FBI agent and executive aide is doing a great job.

"You can't have a namby pamby in that job," he told me. It takes guts, and Scotty's got 'em. If Scotty thinks he's right, he plows ahead."

Below the department's executive level the name of Robert Walter Scott McLeod is greeted with arctic silence. There exists a very real fear of him.

McLeod shakes his graying closely cropped head over this and says he just can't understand why people fear him or say he's an administration hatchet man whose criterion is whether you're a Republican or a Democrat.

McLeod discussing McLeod considers him a guy who is going to have the authority to clean up the State Department. He takes the stand that if you "waddle like a duck quack like a duck and associate with ducks you are a duck."

"I believe," he says, "in guilt by association."

He adds that association often is an innocent affair—but within limits."

Around the State Department you hear rumors of wiretapping dictaphones and lie detectors.

I will swear McLeod told me that the State Department is not wired for sound. There is only one room in which a listening device is used."

Which room?

"I cannot, of course say which one it is."

McLeod says that as far as lie detectors are concerned the State Department as such doesn't own one. Whenever we have occasion to use one we call upon some other agency. It's true that we sometimes used them for evaluation and it often helps clear people."

William Huskey, a long time security agent who had the job of guarding visiting foreign dignitaries quit Jan. 27 proclaiming that he was fed up with McLeod's petty tyranny.

For a long time, said Huskey "I had hoped I could ride it out—that I could grit my teeth and stomach almost anything — but there comes a time when one's personal satisfaction and peace of mind becomes too precious to barter off."

At the time Huskey said he was just the latest of 15 or 20 old timers in the security force who had quit because of McLeod. He never explained publicly his specific complaints.

Just how many state department employes had been dismissed for loyalty reasons was long one of the most asked questions in Washington.

McLeod repeatedly told newsmen "I won't play the numbers game with you."

Finally just yesterday testimony McLeod had given before the House Appropriations Committee was made public.

The committee record showed he testified that 11 persons were let out by the department in 1953 as suspected loyalty risks — seven of them on charges originated under the Truman administration—and that 590 others were dismissed as security risks.

CONFESSES Felix I. Inslerman formerly of Baltimore and now of Cambridge N. Y. tells Sen. McCarthy at a public hearing in Albany N. Y. that he took pictures of secret government documents as part of the Soviet spy ring described by Whittaker Chambers. Inslerman is shown as he listened to a McCarthy aide read a portion of a letter Inslerman said he received from a man named Bob later known as Whittaker Chambers.

YOUTHS ADMIT THEFTS

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Police reported today that four teenage youths have admitted stealing 30 automobiles here and two in Akron. All of the cars were recovered shortly after they were reported stolen. The boys, three 15 years old and one 17, said they took the vehicles just because they wanted to ride around.

Judge Admits Failure As Observant Witness

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke who has been a jurist for 28 years appeared in his court yesterday with his left hand bandaged. He explained to associates that he was bitten when he tried to break up a fight between his two pet dogs, one owned by his daughter.

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

News From All Over

More and more radio is seeking the specialized audiences WNEW, in New York, an old hand at grubbing for odd audiences has just inaugurated one that ought to fill a long felt need It's a disk jockey show called "2 a m Feeding' and it's aimed, of course at those sleepy and hitherto totally ignored wretches who have to get up to feed the baby at that awful hour

J. CROSBY

Art Ford who has been sitting up nights on WNEW spinning records for decades is the baby sitter He's providing baby-care tips culled from Parents Magazine and playing music suitable to the occasion

The first few minutes the music is bright and snappy to wake popa or mamma up The last few are lullaby type records to waft the child back to sleep again And guess who the sponsors are — Clapp's Baby Foods Mennen's Baby products and Lulla-by-lite an infant's musical night light.

AND OVER ON NBC, the deep thinkers have recognized that a good many of their dwindling audience members are in automobiles and is beaming one four hour broadcast called 'Roadshow' (2 to 6 p m EST Saturdays) at them

A feature of this program is 'Mr Safety" who cruises the highways in search of a safe courteous driver, a quest that must sometimes seem like that of Diogenes for an honest man When they find one — and they do believe it or not — he is introduced to the listening audience by telephone and awarded prizes

That's what's up in radio Now what's doing in the space world" Well, sir, Omnivac, an electronic brain designed to make decisions automatically, went berserk on 'The Secret Files of Captain Video' and tried to wrest control of the Universe from the human beings That's what happens when you let anyone make decisions Delusions of grandeur every time Captain Video though mastered the crazed machine and has things well in hand

UP IN MONTREAL there arose a rather different problem Because of the large French population the first TV station in Montreal had to be bilingual Montreal residents moaned about having to receive their programs half in French half in English Now the city has two TV stations one French one English But the moppets of either language insist on one program — Ecole Ding Dong '

And from the animal world on which we keep an uneasy eye for signs of unrest similar to that exhibited by Omnivac, I hear from Bill Baird the puppeteer, that one of his most enthusiastic viewers is Muscovie duck who resides in Indiana Slugger the droopy-eyed piano-playing puppet is the especial favorite of this Muscovie duck, a piece of information I pass on to all Muscovie duck owners who may have wondered how to keep them entertained.

AND NOW FROM the educational front comes word from the University of Toledo which for four years has been offering college courses on television The average TV student the university has discovered is a housewife between the ages of 31 to 50 years of age many of them already well educated but athirst for more

Most of the girls live in small towns or out in the country rather than in Toledo proper and their favorite class time is in the mornings after they've got the breakfast dishes done Courses they prefer include literature, music art science and child psychology and they get so wrapped up in the courses that they get in touch with their professors at least 40 times —either by phone or mail — to clear up things that puzzle them They get good grades too all As or Bs which is better than the average on campus student

Farm Bureau Official Urges 'Fair' Program

John M. Sims Heard At Annual Meeting Of Ohio Association

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The executive vice president of the Ohio County Farm Bureau Assn. says American farmers need a national farm program fair to all sections of the country.

John M. Sims, speaking to the group's 21st annual meeting here yesterday, called for a program which would "provide plenty of food and fair prices and one that will enable farmers to live decently without having to deplete our soils from which future generations must derive their food."

Sims said farmers must realize any law passed dealing with controversial issues would represent a compromise. Such would be the case with any farm program, Sims added.

"We cannot and should not depend upon government to solve most of our agricultural problems," he said.

The Ohio County Farm Bureau reported its sales last year totaled 65 million dollars, second highest annual total on ecord.

Net savings for 1953 amounted to $1,300,000, an increase of $100,000 over 1952. Most of it—$885,000—will be returned to member cooperatives as patronage refunds.

At a business session, Carl Ruffner Suffield, Portage County, and A. R. Wadsworth of Malvern, Carroll County, were elected to the state cooperative's board of directors. Guy Colwell, Defiance; H. D. Heckathorn, Forest; L. F. Warbington, Sidney; Wilbur F. Kidnocker, Chillicothe; Herman Ankeney, Xenia; E. J. Cook, New Vienna, and Mrs. Claude Albert, Lewisburg, were re-elected to three-year board terms.

Australian Is Crushed In Rush To See Queen

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—A man was crushed to death when 10,000 excited Australians burst through a barrier of police and troops to see Queen Elizabeth II arrive in Melbourne today.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh had just passed the spot when the crowd surged forward.

Otherwise the Melbourne crowd gave the Queen an orderly but tumultuous reception on her arrival from Tasmania.

As she drove through the city streets a shower of confetti, streamers, and torn-up newspaper and telephone directories fell like snow from office windows.

RUGGED PIGEON. This pigeon was spotted walking along the roof of a house in Memphis, Tenn., with a 24-inch arrow through its body. The arrow entered the back and just barely emerged at the chest. A humane shelter officer caught the bird and removed the target arrow. The pigeon apparently was little worse off because of the experience. It was taken to the shelter for observation.

Morral Man Fined $25 For Carrying Revolver

Charged with carrying a concealed weapon and intoxication, Scott Hassell, 34, of Morral was fined a total of $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court.

He was arrested by city police when they were told he was seen leaving a hotel with what appeared to be a revolver. He was later arrested in his car and police found a loaded revolver in the glove compartment of his car and another automatic pistol in his car. Hassel said he had purchased the guns a few hours before he was arrested.

Juvenile Judge Gives Address At Youth Rally

At a meeting Sunday night planned and carried out by Intermediate Youth Fellowship members at Epworth Methodist Church, with Judge Edward J. Ruzzo of Marion invited as the speaker, a large number of young people heard a summary of juvenile delinquency in Marion. It was a combined meeting of the Youth Fellowship groups and their advisors.

Judge Ruzzo, in charge of the Marion County Probate and Juvenile Courts, gave facts and figures on problems with young people in the city, with charts illustrating the subjects. He reported his findings of the year and explained the setup of the courts and how decisons are reached. Following, the young people took part in a period of questions and discussion.

This meeting will serve as one of the steps in setting up the church's adult-youth relationship pattern toward its goal of reaching the ideal in the family approach to the problems of present-day living, spokesmen for the young people said. Epworth Church has been chosen to demonstrate family co-operation in a "laboratory" setting at the Lima District conference in May. Judge Ruzzo was praised in regard to the "frank, fair, and firm way in which he showed that family understanding of the problems of young people is needed." He advocated education of the younger generation toward the realization that they need to learn to be better parents themselves, to take responsibility, and to build their own homes and families on a spiritual concept and understanding of the needs of children in the home and community.

Since World War II Great Britain has built about 6,500 factories of 5,000 square feet or more.

METROPOLITAN'S ANNUAL REPORT TO POLICYHOLDERS FOR 1953

Over a Billion Dollars

Paid to Policyholders and Beneficiaries —the Largest Sum in the History of Insurance

More benefits to more people were paid by Metropolitan in 1953 than have ever been paid by any Life insurance company in a single year. Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries amounted to $1,029,000,000.

When it is realized that Metropolitan's benefit payments are only a portion of those of the Life insurance industry as a whole, one can readily visualize the tremendous stabilizing force that the people of the United States and Canada have built for themselves through Life insurance and related coverages.

All in all, 1953 was an outstanding year in your Company's operations. In most respects, it was the best in Metropolitan's 86-year history. In the light of the high level of economic activity in the United States and Canada, and the ability of our Field organization, this is not surprising. We can take pride in reaching new heights in service to the peoples of our two countries.

National Economic Conditions

In retrospect, 1953 was a year of transition. Uppermost in the minds of all, but particularly those with sons of military age, was the cessation of hostilities in Korea. Nevertheless, we fully realize that our goal of a world at peace is far from won, and it is incumbent upon us to continue to remain militarily strong. With Korea no longer an active military theatre, we can convert some of our industrial facilities from production of materiel for human destruction to the satisfying of human wants.

On the domestic front, a number of influences have been at work to materially reduce the inflationary forces, which for so many years have been driving the cost of living to ever greater heights. The curtailment of war production, a temporary catching up with civilian demand in some areas, a determined effort to achieve a balanced budget, and a return to more orthodox management of public debt and fiscal affairs —all have played their part.

We in the Life insurance business are particularly conscious of the effects of inflation, which bear so heavily on the thrifty and those dependent on fixed incomes. All efforts to control this danger should receive our fullest support.

In the year ahead, business will be more competitive, but this is no cause for concern. Competition provides the same goods at lower prices, or better goods and services at the same price. The United States has grown to its present outstanding position on the basis of competition in a free market.

We are passing through a readjustment period, and have been for a number of months, but fundamentally this country is strong. Personal savings in the United States are now estimated at approximately 380 billion dollars, exclusive of the holdings of corporate securities by individuals.

We have, far and away, the greatest productive capacity of any country in the world. More than this, the people of this country and Canada have not lost their fundamental traits of thrift, initiative, and faith in God. Our two countries will go to much greater heights of prosperity in a peacetime economy than ever could be achieved in the midst of war.

Metropolitan Highlights of 1953

During 1953, Metropolitan's gain in Life insurance in force was substantially larger than was ever previously recorded by Metropolitan or any other Life insurance company in any one year. Metropolitan's Life insurance in force, at the end of 1953, totalled more than $56 billion. The number of people covered under all forms of Metropolitan policies reached a record high of over 37 million.

The assets of the Company, which help guarantee the fulfillment of its obligations, increased by $719,000,000, and reached $12,312,000,000 at the close of 1953.

Dividends to policyholders during the year reached an all-time high of $214,829,000. The interest rate earned by Metropolitan investments, after deducting investment expenses, increased to 3.31% (compared with 3.21% for 1952), and stood at 3.09% after the Federal Income Tax. Mortality continued at a low rate. Expenses increased moderately, largely because of the increased volume of business.

In citing the 1953 accomplishments, we wish to pay particular tribute to the 48,000 men and women in the Metropolitan organization who have made these results possible.

Pentagon Suspects 'Leaks'

McCarthy Well Informed On Army Probe of Reds

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington is a plumber's paradise it's full of leaks

Somebody, some place—inside or outside the Army—seems to be leaking information to Sen McCarthy (R-Wis) about what happens in one of the Army's most secret operations its own hunt for Communists

Army officials have pointedly told him the information he has made public so far is nothing they didn't know about already

How does he know about it? He isn't saying But since he does know the Army now may be spreading nets in Pentagon corridors to catch any pigeons carrying messages to the senator

'Twice now within a month McCarthy has held hearings on cases in which the Army apparently made decisions only a few days before the senator began talking about them publicly

The first was the case of Dr Irving Peress a New York dentist who, the Army says refused to answer questions about subversive organizations to which he might have belonged

The second was that of Mrs Annie Lee Moss a 48-year old telegraph-typewriter operator in the Pentagon A former FBI informant described her as a Communist McCarthy says she handles secret messages The Army says she doesn't and never did handle any she could decipher

Take Dr Peress

He was commissioned a captain in October 1952 and that same month refused to answer questions Nevertheless in January 1953 he was called to active duty and in October 1953 was promoted to major. On Dec 30 1953 the Army decided to discharge him Why? The result of an investigation of him the Army says

At any rate, on Jan. 18, 1954, the Army told Peress he'd have to get out by April but could quit sooner Twelve days later on Jan 30 McCarthy called Peress to a hearing but says Peress refused to answer on grounds he might incriminate himself

Three days later Peress asked the Army for an honorable discharge and got it That was Feb 2 On that day McCarthy announced he had just sent a letter to Secretary of the Army Robert T Stevens demanding Peress court martial He apparently didn't know Peress was being discharged

On Feb 16 Stevens replied telling McCarthy Peress had left

On Feb 18 McCarthy called Peress back got no answers and then the same day quizzed Brig Gen Ralph W Zwicker, who had been Peress' commander at Camp Kilmer, N J

Citing orders against giving out security information Zwicker refused to answer most of McCarthy's questions But before finishing the general told the senator he hadn't produced anything new

Mrs Moss the telegraphic typewriter operator in the Pentagon

On Feb 5 the Army says it shifted Mrs Moss from one kind of job to another as a result of an earlier investigation

Yesterday McCarthy held a hearing on this case It was only after the hearing that the Army gave out the information on the investigation of the woman

A former FBI informant Mrs Mary S Markward tesufied she had known Mrs Moss as a Communist in the early 1940s Mrs Moss lawyer George E C Hayes told reporters Mrs Moss takes the position she is not now and never has been a member of the Communist party

McCarthy said that as late as yesterday she was handling top secret messages in the Pentagon The Army promptly said she not only didn't have access to secrets yesterday but never had

Bell System's Net Income Near Half-Billion in 1953

NEW YORK (AP)—The Bell Telephone System, world's largest corporate enterprise, had net income of nearly ½ billion dollars in 1953 and its assets rose to nearly 12 billions.

Total operating revenues of Bell, consisting of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and its principal telephone subsidiaries, amounted to $4,416,729,614, compared with $4,039,664,218 in 1952.

Of the $491,693,857 Bell System net income for the year, $478,512,265 or $11.71 a share was applicable to AT&T stock and the remainder to minority holdings in subsidiaries not 100 per cent owned by AT&T.

This compared with $418,461,896 net income for the Bell System in 1952, of which $406,661,306 or $11.45 a share was applicable to a lesser number of AT&T shares. AT&T had 42,282,000 shares outstanding at the end of 1953 compared with 38,979,000 a year earlier.

Bell System assets rose to $11,972,707,089 at the end of the year against $10,734,348,960 at the end of 1952.

The parent AT&T alone, according to the annual report to stockholders by Cleo F. Craig, president, had 1953 net income of $421,485,570 or $10.32 a share against $358,493,204 or $10.09 a share on the lesser number of shares in 1952. Earnings of Bell subsidiaries are reflected in AT&T net income only to the extent they are received as dividends.

The Bell and AT&T earnings represented new records as they have every year during the huge postwar expansion in service.

Taxes on Bell System telephones averaged $3 a month in 1953, totaling $1,469,000,000 of which $670,000,000 was in excise taxes on customers' bills.

Crouse To Be Initiated By Honorary at OWU

Crouse, who with Howard Lindsay wrote such famous satires and comedies as Life With Father, State of the Union, and Call Me Madam, will appear on the OWU lecture series at 8:15 p.m. Friday in Gray Chapel.

Prof. R. C. Hunter, chairman of the Ohio Wesleyan speech department, is president of the national dramatics honorary of which Crouse will be made a member.

A native of Findlay, Ohio, Crouse started his career as a newspaper reporter.

Yugoslavia Kept Busy Catching Russian Spies

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavia's Communist government says it has caught or killed 337 spies since President Tito broke with Moscow in 1948.

In the same period 11,611 Yugoslavs were arrested for sympathizing with the Soviet bloc. Of these, 2,240 were sentenced to prison.

The figures were revealed by Interior Secretary Svetislav Stesanovic yesterday to a Parliament committee studying the government's request for $10,533,000 to finance security and crime prevention work in 1954. That's one-third less than the 1953 allotment.

Voting Machine Unset But 44 Ballot Anyway

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—A school board official walked into a polling place yesterday where Camden voters were balloting on a 3¼-million - dollar school budget and noticed the voting machine was blank.

Election officials had forgotten to indicate on the machine the seven items being voted on. But that hadn't stopped 44 voters who had preceded the official. They had cast their votes—yes or no—anyway.

Decorators Urged To Promote Sales

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Painting and decorating contractors of America, here for a four-day convention, have been urged by their president to improve their sales and merchandising promotion to offset the "do-it-yourself" trend among home owners.

Richard H. Bohl, Columbus, Ohio also told the 600 delegates, at the opening meeting yesterday, to promote deferred payment plans for painting and decorating.

Another speaker, Gordon McKay, Buffalo, N. Y., said the do-it-yourself promotion "by paint manufacturers has dealt a serious blow to our apprentice training program." He asked, "How can we get young men to spend three years learning to be a painter when they read on a can that they can be experts in five minutes?"

Ad Slightly Misleading

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)— A theater here, advertising the motion picture "The Moon Is Blue," said the film was not recommended for children and added in its program: "No children sold during this engagement."

Stamp Machine Offers Good Buy on 3-Centers

LA SALLE, Ill. (AP)—Postmaster Edward Duffy was urged by an unidentified postcard writer yesterday to check the stamp machine in the lobby of the La Salle post office.

"It seemed to me," the writer told Duffy, "that you had a Washington Birthday special on the 3-cent stamp—5 for 10 cents. I got 5 3-cent stamps for 10 cents, so I owe the government 5 cents. I am attaching 3 cents, and I spent 2 cents on this card."

Three pennies were attached to the postcard with gummed tape.

March May See Rise

New Signs of Business Pickup Spotted

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Those who believe February will be the low point in the recession have some signs to point to today—all the way from steel to diapers.

The first pickup in ordering noted in weeks or months is reported by some industries such as textiles. Better volume of retail buying is noted here and there. The number of those out of work still grows, but the rate of increase slackens for the first time in weeks.

You have to look hard to find these things among the welter of depressing statistics—and in some cases businessmen just say they can "sense a change for the better" in their customers' attitudes. But here are some of the signs reported today:

New York Gift Show officials report both attendance and buying are setting a record so far this week. More than 7,000 buyers have checked in to look at the 1,400 lines shown by 575 exhibitors, officials say ordering has been substantial, which they attribute to generally low inventories in most stores.

The bellweather steel industry reports somewhat along the same lines. The first upturn in steel ordering—even if trifling so far—is reported by a number of mills. Steelmen say their customers are at last giving signs of having used up their inventories and being ready to start over again.

The auto industry, although plagued by heavy inventories in dealers' hands, says ordering of new cars so far in February has been markedly higher. The big three auto makers are planning on a step-up in production soon to meet what they insist will be a good season of consumer buying to start in a month or so.

Some textile mills are reporting the first increase in ordering in some lines in many weeks. Examples: Carded cotton yarn and cotton ducks. And diaper manufacturers say orders have increased week by week this month to the point they're even wondering if the prices couldn't be raised.

In Worth street, New York's textile center, spokesmen are hoping the long decline in textile prices appears about over and that the price stabilization they expect should bring an upturn in production. In this industry, too, inventories are believed now to be trimmed neatly.

An order upturn this month cheers the jewelry industry. Some plants are reported hiring again and stepping up production to meet the good spring business the increased ordering seems to point to.

In the worrisome increase in joblessness, there comes the welcome government report that new claims for jobless pay are declining, although they stay discouragingly above last February.

Spare Time Is No Problem for Busy Montana Resident

WINNETT, Mont. (AP)—Fred Story, 40, said he holds these jobs:

Winnett water commissioner.

Collector of city licenses.

City policeman.

Deputy sheriff.

Night marshal (making rounds until 2 a.m.).

County ambulance driver.

City street worker (with one helper).

Electrician for himself.

Insurance salesman.

He used to be fire chief, but he quit. No time for that.

Story, who also heads the local Ground Observer Corps, says he gets $250 a month for the multi-duty job he has held since 1947.

"I'm busy most of the time" was his only comment yesterday as he took a breather in this central Montana county seat town of nearly 500 population.

Wife Shocked Witness To Holdup by Husband

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"There I was in the shop to have some clothes cleaned and what happens? My husband comes in with a gun in his hand and holds up the place.

"Why, I almost died," Mrs. Betty Economu, 29, told officers yesterday, minutes after her husband James, 32, surrendered to police.

Mrs. Economu was released but her husband was held on suspicion of robbery in the $330 holdup.

Asks Ban on Leering

MILFORD, Mass. (AP) — Police Chief William F. Fitzpatrick is going to ask the March 10 town meeting to ban "leering" at people in automobiles.

His proposed town ordinance would prohibit "peeping into the windows of a house, (or) automobile . . . or spying upon or leering at any person or persons in said house or automobile."

144 Horses Sold At Delaware Sale

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The Blooded Horse Sales Co., yesterday opened its annual spring speed sale of harness horses, selling 144 trotters and pacers for $89,110, an average of $620.

Top-priced horse was the 6-year-old pacing mare, Bomberette, winner of more than $10,700 last season, Jimmy Cruise of Mount Vernon, Ohio, bid $4,000 for her.

Second high was brought by Nana Worthy. The Comar Stables, Cohoes, N. Y., bought her for $3,700. She campaigned in Ohio last year and won 16 of 21 starts.

Four other standardbreds sold for $3,500 each: Belle Prone to J. T. Berry, Riverhead, N. Y.; Highley's Abbey to R. T. Morrison, Anderson, Ind.; Lass Knight to Daniel Crawford, St. Augustine, Fla. and Peggy Laird to Howard Crissy, Rochester, N. Y.

Today's final session features more than 150 race horses, breeding stock and yearlings.

Wallet Holding $1,000 Mislaid at Bus Station

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Bus driver Leslie V. Farr of Utica spotted a wallet containing $1,000 on the ticket counter of the bus station yesterday. He turned it over to agent Stanley C. Brown, who traced ownership to Mrs. Herbert E. Post through papers in the wallet.

Notified of the find, Mrs. Post said she'd pick up the wallet today.

Policeman Is Demoted After Slapping Witness

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A veteran Little Rock policeman was demoted from the rank of detective sergeant to patrolman for slapping a Negro witness in a manslaughter case.

Police Chief Marvin H. Potts said Sgt. J. W. Cox's demotion was effective yesterday.

Struggle of Statistics

It remains to be seen whether the United States is sick because it must catch its breath after World War II, a catch-up period for domestic needs from 1946 midway through 1950, a war in Korea and six months of postwar adjustment.

What is happening at the moment seems sometimes to be a struggle of statistics. Freight car loadings are up. So are business failures. Soft-coal production is down. Auto production is rising. Wholesale prices are firm. Employment is one figure or another, depending on whose figure you happen to be suing. Unemployment is undoubtedly higher than it has been at any time since 1949 but not so high as it was then despite a five-year increase in population.

These straws in the wind are being watched thoughtfully by statisticians and the economists they provide with information for educated guess work.

But at their best, statistics are only pale and distorted reflection of effects already obsolete. They never should be misused to seem like inverted glimpses into the future — backward looks at what is ahead.

When that happens, it is as though Americans have ceased to believe in self-determination and had become prisoners of their statistical records.

Only the most thorough-going Marxist believes human behavior is so adjectly materialistic it can be predicted by arithmetic. Such an extreme of materialsim is hateful in America.

Yet, in American politics and economics the motion is spreading that men are governed by forces measurable by and responsive only to materialism.

It is the most monstrous fallacy of these disordered times. Americans live by faith in themselves and their God, not by slide rules. If they had so little faith they could not adjust their circumstances of living in 1954 to the absence of casualty lists and war orders, there would be no sense in fighting the Communist conspiracy.

Americans would have become its converts.

Manion Leaves Washington

It is a misfortune for everybody concerned that Clarence E. Manion did not fit in with President Eisenhower's plans for a study of relationships between federal and local government. Dr. Manion could have been a keen and competent chairman of the President's Commission Inter-Governmental Relations had he stayed on the job.

His resignation by request was foreshadowed some days ago when it became known that his commission had made no substantial progress since last September when Dr. Manion accepted its chairmanship. It was not surprising that more time was needed for such a complex task, but it was surprising that so little had been done with a project which ranked high on President Eisenhower's list of special studies.

Dr. Manion's forced resignation is being played up as evidence of friction between him and the Eisenhower administration over the Bricker amendment, which he supported That difference of opinion undoubtedly added to incompatibility between the brilliant former dean of the Notre Dame Law School and the White House, but it would be oversimplification to assume it was the only source of friction.

Everybody who knows Dean Manion — and thousands do know him — is pleasantly aware that he is one of the most delightfully articulate individualists of his day, a man whose busy mind throws off sparks like an emery wheel whirling against steel. He apparently didn't change when he went to Washington where some of his sparks evidently landed under some eminent collarbands.

Squabble With a Moral

One of those squabbles everybody loves has broken out over a policy of setting an age limit on those personable airline stewardesses who have become a trademark of plane travel. The policy calls for the young ladies to look for other employment when they reach 32.

This was certain to produce an uproar It has. The stewardesses, most of whom aren't even close to 32, are standing shoulder to shoulder in defense of their right to work. They are saying what no one denies—that a pretty woman does not turn into a witch because she has reached 32.

In the confusion, however, the stewardesses have lost track of the main problem.

They were hired because they were young, pretty and smart enough to handle their jobs.

Some of them will not continue to be as pretty as they were when they were hired, and none of them will get any younger though all of them may get smarter. Eventually, someone will have to break the news to those who overstay their welcome. No one wants the assignment. Hence, a policy of releasing them according to birthdays, instead of according to a judgment which no mortal ever should be pass on a woman who has lost her looks.

Security Risks

By David Lawrence

Change Noted in State Department's Attitude

George Kennan, chairman of the State Department's policy planning staff under the Truman-Acheson administration, has expressed himself in criticism of the way the government has been handling the cases of those in government employ who are charged with loose morals.

Because of the controversy that has arisen about the discharge of "security risks" from the government and the frequent references in print to morals cases, what Kennan has to say is of current interest.

Kennan's speech before the annual Christian Conference on The Relevance of Religious Belief to Problems of Everyday Living was originally delivered last December off the record at Princeton University. In the February 12 issue of The Princeton Alumni Weekly, however, it is stated that Kennan reconsidered and allowed his address to be printed.

THE SECTION of Kennan's speech dealing with criticism of the government is as follows:

"Let us . . . keep out of the ranks of the finger-pointing holier-than-thous — the people who sublimate their own sex urge in the peculiarly nasty and sadistic practice of snooping on others and exploiting the failures and embarrassments of others in this most excruciating and difficult of problems.

"In particular, let us not fall into the sort of immature Philistinism that seems to have taken possession of our government in its latter-day preoccupation with the morals of the public servant.

"What has gone on in Washington in these recent months in this regard has brought the greatest dismay and disgust to many of us older civil servants not only because it seems to rest on a very faulty understanding of human nature, but because it implies the existence in our midst of a race of angels, disguised as security officers, equipped to pass judgment on the sinful remainder of mankind. Surely nothing could be more un-Christian than this."

IN ANOTHER passage Kennan discusses the attitude of present-day Christians toward sex problems and says:

"It seems to me that the greatest sin to which Christians are susceptible in questions of sex is really the sin of intolerance and lack of charity.

"Whoever makes other people's personal problems more bitter and more hopeless by forgetting the cruelty of the conflict and by holding those people up to ignomity and censure for their failures and stumblings — he, in my opinion, is the man whose conscience should really burn him.

"He is the man who has the most to fear for the safety of his soul. He is guilty of the deadly sin of pride, and I suspect that there is none deadlier in the eyes of our Maker."

The problem of loose morals among government employes was discussed by John Peurifoy, deputy under secretary of state, on February 28, 1950, before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, when he disclosed that 91 persons had been eased out of the Department of State in the Truman administration in cases involving morals, including homosexuality.

In this category of "security risks" he placed "A habitual alcoholic or a person who has any other physical or moral defect which could be preyed upon or which might be used by somebody who was attempting to penetrate into the department."

R. W. SCOTT McLEOD, top security officer in the Department of State in the Eisenhower - Dulles administration, discussed the same subject in a copyrighted interview in U. S. News & World Report, in its February 12, 1954, issue, as follows:

Q—Does the average person, when he is told he must leave for one reason or another, carry that any further — does he ask for the right to appeal, or just resign and accept it?

A—I think that probably the ratio would be quite similar to the number of people charged with crimes who plead guilty as against those who stand trial. As you know in a preponderance of cases the fellow pleads guilty. I don't think there is a single exception in the homosexual cases. The investigation usually terminates in an interview, and the interview elicits a confession which results in a resignation.

Q—Did sex perversion turn out to be a problem, after all the talk?

A—Since 1947, when they started keeping figures on them, there have been more than 500 homosexuals terminated in the department.

Q—Isn't that unusual, percentagewise, for that number of human beings?

A—I don't think it is an unusual percentage if it were compared to the general population, although I know of no reliable statistics on which to base that comparison, but it certainly is an intolerable percentage in a sensitive agency.

Q—Is it your feeling that homosexuals would be susceptible to blackmail?

A—Well, that seems to me to be self-evident."

Catty Remarks

By TRUMAN TWILL

Herewith an essay by T. Manville, the aged tomcat who writes this column on special occasions:

Quality among cats is kept high by a process so old its beginning is unknown. Since a visitor showing off a special kind of pooch at the Twillery was talking about the same thing adapted to dog breeding, it needs to be better understood.

The visitor explained that breeders of these special dogs will not let anything weaken the breed. They will not commit any of the unpardonable sins of dog-breeding, such as carrying on weaknesses. They also will not save all the pups, because too many pups would complicate the performance of their duty to improve the breed.

Few people—and no dog breeders, in all likelihood—have given the feline kingdom credit for doing the same thing without anything in writing. Yet, all people have noticed at one time or another the over-all superiority of cats to dogs without wondering why.

It is because in every litter of kittens only the fittest survive. This is not to say anything about the innumerable litters of kittens which have been disposed of by human intervention. This must be added to the reasons why cats are noted for their hardihood and smartness.

There are dumb dogs, crazy dogs and vicious dogs—mostly the result of gross mismanagement by the human beings who are always nibbing in at the wrong times and nibbing out at the wrong times. On top of that, dogs themselves are mighy careless about improving themselves.

Cats, on the other hand, never quit thinking about improving the breed, which is made easier for them because cats, with a few exceptions, are just cats. They are a blend of everything that has kept them on the winning side in the battle of survival.

The battle never ends, for cats. Even when they strike it rich, they are never any further away from extinction than their next trip out of doors. And most cats are not interested in striking it rich. They'd rather have fun.

Consequently, cats never lose touch with reality. They have a good time. They fight for everything they get, even if they can get it without fighting. They either stay nimble of foot and mind or they are dead cats.

That's why there are no dumb cats. That, plus the noteworthy mobility of me and my relatives. We get around. We are interstate, not to say intrastate, and we also are intercontinental. When the time comes—if we think it will be any fun — we'll be interplanetary. Whatever cats there may be anywhere will be permitted to contribute the best of their qualities to the wonderful blend of catdom.

When anyone talks about selective breeding of dogs he should apologize to the feline kingdom for poaching without permission. We cats figured out all that stuff an aeon ago.

More Than Atomic Secrets

By Michael Amrine

Sir William G. Penney, Britain's top atomic-bomb expert, is in Washington for top negotiations with the United States on exchanging atomic secrets.

It had been quietly announced in England some time ago that Penney, who led the successful research and production which climaxed in the exploding of Britain's A-bombs in Australia, would visit the U. S. sometime this year. The actual time of his arrival, however, and the fact that he is here, had not been disclosed.

The youthful — Penney is only 43 —physicist was one of the leaders at the U.S. atom-bomb assembly project in Los Alamos, New Mexico, during World War II, and went home to become the British equivalent of J. Robert Oppenheimer, in that he led a scientific crew to make British bombs, after America cut off the flow of information across the ocean.

He was an invited guest at the Bikini blasts in the Pacific in the summer of 1946, and there again displayed a genius for improvization already known and admired by American scientists. One difficult problem in atomic blasts is measuring the sheer size of the blast.

Penney, who has seen more bomb blasts than any other Briton, put forth at Bikini the fact that, if a bomb explodes a little bit off center, it throws off the readings of instruments, no matter how precise they are. As a check on far more elaborate equipment, Penney rigged up 1,000 empty gasoline drums in an ingenious way.

Any blast causes curious effects in such structures as empty shells —say, a gasoline can. It turned out the first bomb drop at Bikini was badly off center and Penney's "instruments" proved extremely useful. For his work, he was awarded the U.S. Medal of Freedom.

Penney's mission is to join a group of American and British experts who are discussing ways and means of implementing the President's proposals to exchange far more atomic information, chiefly in the field of weapons effects.

The British wish to negotiate far more than atomic secrets. In what respects they are ahead and may have information quite valuable to us is secret, of course, but it is known they are pushing us or passing us in the race for successful atomic power.

Britain discovered and pioneered in radar, the jet plane, the fast-moving night fighter-bomber, the Canberra, and many other developments.

Today they are believed to have accomplished surprising developments in guided missiles, the diabolical gadgets which can be compared either to flying bombs or to planes without pilots, guided to tatgets from their launching bases in another country.

There has been costly duplication of "ranges" or tests grounds for guided missiles, as between the two countries.

The United States has one range in the Caribbean, the British have one in the central desert of Australia. A pooling of effort here would save probably millions of dollars and British pounds if we could agree to share knowledge and techniques, as we did during the war.

Various committees exchanging information have existed since the war, and would before this have led to amendment of our restrictive Atomic Energy Act had it not been for the shocking case of Klaus Fuchs, German - born naturalized Englishman who became a traitor and spy. Not only did Fuchs' treachery make American congressman loath to enlarge freedom of information between the two countries, but it happened that Fuchs had actually been a British delegate to the discussions on exchange of information.

The secrecy surrounding Penney's visit to the U.S. is no doubt more diplomatic than military, for some congressmen might feel it was rushing things for the President to propose legal changes to pave the way for exchanging information with our allies, and at the same moment begin exploratory discussions.

If there has been some revolutionary development in atomic weapons, that would explain the haste. There are many elements in the unusual situation between two allies who once shared all their secrets, and one new factor is the rich uranium strike in Australia, another item Great Britain may throw into the atom information trading.

Wet Cycle Coming Up

By EDWARD NELLOR

Recent dust storms in the Middle West farm belt have once again raised the question: Are we headed for another nationwide drought?

Weather experts say no. In fact, governmental statisticians who keep track of rainfall and other things weatherwise, say we are entering a wet cycle that should keep us moist for the next five years.

The happy rural forecast is due mainly to sunspots. Not all but most weather experts are convinced that sunspot activity is a major factor in the earth's weather. That is, the amount of rainfall annually that makes or breaks the producers of the things we eat and wear.

Sunspot activity is in the ascendency, and if it continues at the scheduled rate we have five wet years ahead of us, they say.

This does not mean that localized droughts are impossible. In fact, they are probable. What the weather experts talk about in sunspot language is the over-all weather picture, for the United States, Canada, Mexico and assorted neighbors who also desire rainfall in adequate quantities.

The sunspot weather picture first received national attention in the early 1900's Between 1910 and 1915 sunspot activity was at a low ebb and there was a major drought in the U.S.

The sun started kicking up its cosmic dust shortly after 1915. On occasion, some of this cosmic dust is visible to the naked eye. Between 1915—generally, across the U.S., it is emphasized—and 1920 the weather was good, with adequate rainfall. Between 1920 and 1925 sunspot activity tapered off and rains were less frequent.

Between 1925 and 1930 crops across the nation were wet with adequate frequency. For the following five years, however, the nation suffered a major dry spell. Conditions gradually improved through the early years of World War II, until sunspot activity again receded, so that by 1945 we were in another low sunspot period and a dry spell.

From 1945 to 1950 it was national umbrella time again. Generally, in 1950 the sunspots called a halt and declined steadily in activity until 1953 and early this year, when the sunspot curve started up again.

Weather experts say the 1908-1953 sunspot drought cycle is a twin for the recent U S dry spell. It started in a localized area and gradually spread across the nation. Then, as now, the dry spell started breaking in the Southwest and Midwest first, and subsequently spread to the East Coast.

As convinced as most U. S. Weather Bureau experts are that we are headed for a wet cycle, they still are alarmed over the nation's declining water table. Cities in many major population centers are digging deeper wells—in some areas even striking salt water—as the underground water level continues to decline

People must be well supplied with water to survive, most city manager and weather experts admit. But the increased population is not solely to blame for the boost in water consumption. Deforesting, plowing up grassland and, perhaps, some subtle chemical change in the earth's moisture-producing atmosphere from man's over-all activity—such as burning fuel to keep warm—increase water consumption faster than it is being replaced.

Contributors to a symposium give their predictions as to what the year 3000 will be like About all we personally are sure of is that it will be a year of decision.

White House Conference on TV

President Eisenhower's press conferences having been taxed for its educating, there are predictions of a televised one in the future, with the entire nation watching and listening via TV. As something of a "visitor" ourselves, we shall demand it in the popular video mood:

Secretary —And now ladies and gentlemen that distinguished, that talented, charming and truly great performer — the President of the United States. Let's give him a great big hand.

President — Thank you, thank you very much. I'm very happy to be on this wonderful program of YOURS.

Reporter — It's not our program it's yours.

President — One gets so confused here

Reporter — I'm five feet eleven, weight one hundred and eighty pounds have light hair and suffer from hypertension. What's new hue?

President — I'm the first suffering from hypertension in these conferences. And you're on the wrong program

Reporter — This question is from Phoebe Wickett of Ipswitch, Miss. She wants to know for ten dollars what is the deepest lake in America.

President — I forget the name but I find it on every golf course I play.

Reporter — You now have forty dollars and are nearing the gateway to the jackpot. Do you want to quit and come back in nineteen hundred and fifty-six?

President — Don't worry about nineteen hundred and fifty-six. I'll take it now

Reporter — Okay. The orchestra will now play a well-known number that plays "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows." Name that tune!

President —It's "The November Song" by Adlai Stevenson

Reporter — What do you intend to do about Europe and Indochina?

President — I had thought something of sending Marilyn Monroe to both places. She did very well in Korea

Reporter — Has Mr Dulles made his complete report to you yet?

President — No. The report is ready but we haven't made up our minds on a sponsor

Reporter — I wish to make two requests. Will you outline your policy on Italy and then do some bicycle tricks?

President — I can't do any bicycle tricks.

Reporter — Everybody else on TV does!

President — Gentlemen, this is after all, a press conference Let us have some really deep questions and answers.

All In Unison — What On a TV quiz program!!!

Reporter — I want to know whether you look for a recession within the next two years and also to ask if you would like your house painted inside and out, a year's supply of golf balls and a completely new wardrobe

President — You are confusing the program with "Strike It Rich," or "Welcome Traveler."

Reporter — Would it be possible for you to have Harry Truman at one of these press conferences with you?

President — What for?

Reporter — Every TV show could use a wrestling act.

President — That's all boys! (Backing slowly through an exit under a spotlight) Goodnight, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are.

Polio Study Report Questions Gamma Globulin Effectiveness

WASHINGTON (AP)—The reaction of the medical profession—particularly state and local health officers—to a somewhat inconclusive report on the use of gamma globulin against polio may determine the extent to which it is used this year.

Health officials indicated they would await such reaction before determining the extent to which gamma globulin is used in 1954—and how.

A group of 17 polio experts appointed by the U. S. Public Health Service reported Monday that:

1. It had found no evidence gamma globulin, a blood derivative, prevented or mitigated paralytic polio when given in mass inoculation program by saying in the 23 areas in 13 states which had epidemics last summer.

2. It had found no evidence gamma globulin was effective when given to family contacts of persons stricken.

However, the committee qualified its statement about the mass inobservations did not provide enough information to permit it to conclude whether or not gamma globulin had an effect in preventing or alleviating the disease when used in this way.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had announced it would make available for use this summer three million doses of gamma globulin, worth 19 million dollars. It reaffirmed those plans in commenting on the committee's report.

Mrs. Campbell was born May 12, 1877, in Mt. Blanchard, the daughter of Isaac and Charolette Greer Elder. On March 23, 1898, she married Aaron F. Campbell, who preceded her in death.

Surviving are three children, Isaac Campbell of Fort Wayne, Ind., Mrs. L. G. Hissong, at whose home she died, and Mrs. Hope Meck of Dayton; nine grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; two brothers, Squire Elder of Mt. Blanchard, N. J. Elder of Lakeview; and two sisters, Mrs. Zoe Johnson and Mrs. Zana Shaw of Arlington.

She was a retired chief operator of the Wharton Telephone Co. and was a member of the Wharton Methodist Church.

Services were held at the Bristoll Funeral Home, Carey, and burial was at the Wharton Cemetery.

DRAWS JAIL SENTENCE

A Mt. Vernon man was sentenced to five days in the Marion County jail when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today to a charge of drunken driving filed against him by city police. Norman P. Schorr, 25, was arrested at 3:34 a.m. this morning as he drove along E. Church St. In addition to the jail term he was fined $100 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for three years.

Freedom Crusade Fund Drive Opens; County Help Asked

Marion County residents have been asked to support the Crusade for Freedom with their signatures and dollars.

Robert T. Mason chairman of the Marion County drive, said today that although the county has no specific goal assigned to it, it is hoped that a substantial part of the state goal of 1,000,000 signatures and $75,000 will come from this County.

He pointed out there will be no house-to-house canvass or specific drive for funds to support the Crusade and its Radio Free Europe broadcasting stations, but people are requested to give what they could, sending the money to the Crusade for Freedom, care of the postmaster. Blue envelopes have been provided for this purpose.

The signatures are asked to go on a freedom scroll. These scrolls are being circulated among the civic clubs, labor unions, and schools of the county, Mason said. Eventually the names will be read over Radio Free Europe beamed toward the Communist satellite nations. The county chairman said it is hoped that names from a particular locality or even one name—names of Americans who support the Crusade for Freedom and its principles—will encourage listeners to rise up against their Communist captors.

Nationally the drive hopes to net the support of 25,000,000 Americans and $10,000,000.

To aid the Ohio campaign the "Freedom Tank"—the homemade armored vehicle in which several Czechs escaped from behind the iron curtain . . . will visit cities throughout the state. The closest it will come is Mansfield, where it is showing today.

Radio Free Europe broadcasts around the clock to 70 000 000 people in the captive countries. In all, 21 powerful transmitters broadcast messages in an attempt to counteract Soviet lies. The Reds make every effort to jam the broadcasts, but through frequency changes the messages do get through. The broadcasts are aimed at Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania.

The candefish, or eulachon, of America's north Pacific coast is prized by Indians as food and for its oil. When dried and a wick is pulled through it, the fish will burn like a candle.
